Nassau County Department of Health Perinatal Services Network

The Nassau County Perinatal Services Network is a group of consumers, concerned citizens and health and human service providers working together to improve birth outcomes in Nassau County.

Our objectives are to increase awareness and access to health care and other critical services for pregnant and parenting women.

Our goals:

- Having strong collaborative relationships with the community, concerned citizens and health and human service providers.
- Reaching out and educating pregnant and childbearing age women on preconception and perinatal health care.
- Arranging and conducting forums, seminars and/or conferences for health and human service providers.
- Advocating to increase awareness regarding important perinatal issues affecting pregnant and childbearing age women.

If you are interested in our work or would like more information, please call us at:

(516) 227-9456

How to use this booklet

- Look at your Medicaid card to check which insurance you have; Medicaid or one of the 6 Managed Care Plans.
