Telcon: Regina Palotti, P-350 shift leader.

Re: [REDACTED]

Ms. Palotti called to inform me that [REDACTED] was experiencing a reaction to her medication. She reported that [REDACTED] was feeling dizzy and crying hysterically. I spoke with Ms. Palotti to give suggestions on how to calm [REDACTED] down. She was eventually able to calm her down to the point where [REDACTED] was able to speak with me on the phone. [REDACTED] stated that she felt dizzy and wanted to go to bed. [REDACTED] also reports that her medication "scares" her because it makes her feel "sick and dizzy".

After speaking with Ms. Palotti, we agreed that she would monitor [REDACTED] as she got ready for bed. Ms. Walker will monitor the other residents.

10PM

Telcon: Regina Palotti, P-350 shift leader.

Re: [REDACTED]

Ms. Palotti reports that [REDACTED] sleeping quietly. She also reports that all other residents are in bed and that the shift is running smoothly.

Date: January 3, 2003

I met [REDACTED] to discuss her adjustment. She reports that she is having problems relating with her peers in the classroom. She feels as if the other residents are talking about her. I spoke with [REDACTED] and reviewed with her some of the ways that she can keep her focus on herself. She agreed to return to the classroom and complete her assignments in the cubby.

PRELIMINARY ASSESSMENT AND SERVICE PLAN

RESIDENT INFORMATION

NAME: [REDACTED] ADMISSION DATE: 1/3/03

DATE OF BIRTH: [REDACTED] CASEWORKER : Donna Jackson

COUNTY: Nassau

BACKGROUND

[REDACTED] was remanded to Project 350 on a PINS petition issued by Nassau County Family Court. Prior to detention, she resided with her mother in Hempstead. [REDACTED] states she is currently a 9th grade student at [REDACTED] High School. She is [REDACTED] tall, weighs [REDACTED] pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes.

INTERVIEW NARRATIVE

[REDACTED] is a 14-year old Hispanic female who presents as a quiet and shy youth. She reluctantly provided details of the events leading to her remand and generally answered questions with one-word answers. She reports that she was remanded to Project 350 because she "stayed out overnight" on New Year's Eve. When questioned further, she simply stated "and that's it". She denies problems with school and states that she attends regularly but has had with "a few" unexcused absences. [REDACTED] reports that her mother speaks little English but is trying to help her and enrolled her with the Hispanic Counseling Center in Hempstead. She states that she is eager to return to her mother's care and will "do the right thing" upon her return home.

NEED TO KNOW

[REDACTED] is the subject to a PINS Petition filed by Nassau County Family Court. This is her second admission to Project 350.

PROGRAM GOALS

To provide a well-child physical examination and necessary medical referrals for treatment.

To provide an academic evaluation and educational program in accordance with grade level and skills

To provide a healthy and nurturing environment to foster satisfactory resident adjustment.

To provide individual and group counseling to improve problem solving and decision making.

To provide telephone contact and personal visits with family members and other authorized persons to facilitate communication and understandings.

SERVICE PLAN

The following is a preliminary service plan for [REDACTED] It is based upon information supplied by the resident and the records. The service plan may be modified as necessary.

MEDICAL:

[REDACTED] will have a routine medical exam at Hempstead Health Clinic. She denies any medical problems at this time.

EDUCATION:

[REDACTED] will be tested and evaluated, and an educational plan will be developed for her. The educational coordinator will contact [REDACTED] High School to advise of her placement at Project 350, and to request academic records and special needs information. [REDACTED] states that she is currently in the 9th grade.

RESIDENT LIFE:

[REDACTED] will be encouraged to participate fully with her peers in supervised daily home management tasks and activities. Cooperation, harmony and learning opportunities are built into the resident day, to foster relationship building and enhanced social skills. [REDACTED] will attend Communication Workshops that focus on resisting peer pressure and improving consequential thinking and decision making.

[REDACTED]

COUNSELING:

Individual counseling will provide [REDACTED] with a forum to discuss issues related to family relationships, decision making and peer pressure. Group counseling will provide information on decision making and developing positive communication skills.

VISITATION AND TELEPHONE CONTACTS:

[REDACTED] expects to maintain regular telephone contact and weekly visitation with her mother.

SERVICE REFERRAL

[REDACTED] has been referred for LTI's aftercare services.

DATE: February 26, 2003

I met with [REDACTED] to gather information for her initial assessment. While [REDACTED] was cooperative during the interview, she was most interested in contacting her parents for clothing. She also requested to call [REDACTED] her caseworker at KIDS Onieda.

I attempted to contact both [REDACTED]'s parents and her county worker, [REDACTED]. I left a message for [REDACTED] parents' phone was busy.

[REDACTED] denies any health problems and is taking her medication as prescribed.

DATE: February 27, 2003

9AM

I met with [REDACTED] to discuss her adjustment. [REDACTED] denies any adjustment problems at this time. She states that she understands program expectations and does not have any questions at this time.

3:00PM

I met with [REDACTED] to discuss her visit to Hempstead Health Clinic. Childcare staff reported that [REDACTED] became upset and disruptive at the clinic. [REDACTED] states that another resident was "bothering and teasing" her. I advised [REDACTED] to utilize staff when she begins to feel angry.

[REDACTED] received her physical and was diagnosed a well adolescent.

Telcon: Ms. Yolas, Director Project 350

I spoke with Ms. Yolas in regards to transferring [REDACTED] to Project 350, which is an all girl group setting. [REDACTED] reports that she would feel more comfortable living in an all girl environment. Ms. Yolas will speak with Ms. Wolf and advise me of the decision later.

Ms. Yolas called to say [REDACTED] would be transferred this afternoon. P-350 staff will complete a new intake.

DATE: February 28, 2003

I met with [REDACTED] to discuss her adjustment. She reports that she like Project 350 and feels comfortable there. She appears to be forming a positive relationship with another resident and interacts appropriately.

DATE: March 3, 2003

9:30am

I attempted to meet with [REDACTED] to discuss an incident in the classroom this morning. [REDACTED] refused to make eye contact or speak directly with me. During the time I observed her, she stated "I am going to kill myself right now", several times. She then began to bite her hand and scratch her left forearm. While she did not break the skin, the areas are bruised and red.

10:15am

[REDACTED] transported to Nassau University Medical Center (NUMC) Psychiatric Emergency Room for an evaluation.

12:30pm
